WASHINGTON Pauline Frederick-hers is a name to conjure with. The screen idol of millions all over the world, her first appearance in Goldwyn Pictures takes on the eclat of an international event. Samuel Goldwyn, president of Goldwyn, fulfills his promise to exhibitors to add this famous artiste to his bril-Mant roster. Furthermore, in "The Woman on the Index," he restores her to the medium of expression in which she has won her greatest triumphsmodern dramas surging with emotion. But never before has Pauline Frederick appeared in a play like "The Wo-man on the Index." It outdistances

Adapted by Willard Mack from George Broadhurst's stage success of A wonderful story with a plot so baffling that the climax is guaranteed to keep the most sophisticated spectator guessing until the very last scene, the star's progress through it demands test after test of her histronic powers. MURRAY.

Dainty Shirley Mason, a screen player of prominence and winsome beauty, their first appearance as co-stars in Paranount pictures in a patriotic John Emerson-Anita Loos production writ-ten especially for them by John Emerson and Anita Loos, which will be presenud at the Murray theater today. The play depicts life in the soldiers' training camps and its theme is intensely patriotic.

In this photoplay, Miss Mason portrays the role of a patriotic stenograher country by exposing and tracking down Hun spies. While she is doing this she herself is hunted by a rascally spy who has been drafted into the United States army and she is ressued from his citutches just in time to save her, by her real sweetheart, the part played by Mr. Truex, a small but intensely patriotic soldier, full of survived by her parents, several pep and ginger. After a series of highly interesting adventures the couple foil the spies and find happiness in their mutual love.

MURRETTE

A picture which is bound to please the Murrette patrons will be Dorothy Dalton's masterpiece dealing with the past great war, depicting German atrocities and unspeakable crimes. Miss Dalton is first seen as a movie making a picture when the great war breaks out. The lover feels the call is so broken over his enlisting that in order to be near him, enlists as a Red Cross nurse. They are eventually sent to France but after a time are separated and on account of not hearing of him, she fears his death. Then comes the crisis. She is taken prisoner and confined in the chateau which is the headquarters of several Prussian officers.
